

innoForce is an engineering company, that works primarily in the field of medical IT. Our company is one of the outstanding providers of groundbreaking and high-quality software in the domain of ENT medicine. We - the young, competent and highly motivated team, support our customers in the transformation of concepts to the working products by using the best available practices and marketable technologies.

To support our team, we are looking for a

Web Developer

Requirements for the candidate:

- Experience in development of commercial Web applications;
- Familiarity with software architectural patterns (like MVC) and other modular/extensible software design approaches;
- Familiarity with object-oriented programming;
- Maximum self-sufficiency and coordination at work;
- Solution-oriented thinking;
- Solid knowledge of English (written and spoken);
- Willing to learn and grow professionally.

Beneficial skills:

- Flair for user interface design;
- Experience in working in team;
- Knowledge of German;
- University degree in area of IT.

Your work will cover these areas:

- Standards-compliant markup with HTML, JavaScript and CSS;
- Web application development with PHP;
- SQL database administration and data normalization;
- Planning and documentation tasks.

What do we offer:

- Interesting and creative tasks in a young, dynamic team;
- Competitive compensation package;
- Work on international projects;
- Friendly, collaborative and comfortable work atmosphere;
- Opportunity to realise your own ideas.

Have we stimulated your interest?

We will be glad to receive your application (CV, certificates as PDF-files, reports about your previous projects). Please send it to: jobs@innoforce.com